

Team 10: Player Character Design for Slimy Ascent

Game Concept:

- Our game takes place in a typical fantasy-adventure world, where adventurers slay monsters to get stronger. You play as a low-level green slime, one of the weakest fantasy monsters in modern RPG and adventure games. The gameplay is simple: you can move left and right, sprint, jump, wall jump, and wall slide. The game's goal is to escape your would-be captors by reaching the end of each level.

Player Character Creation

a. Visual Design

- Our player character is a small, green slime with beady black eyes and rosy cheeks. It has no mouth, ears, or any other sort of extremity. It is semi-transparent, so you can see through it to the other side.
- As the slime stands idle, it wriggles in place to show some liveliness. As the slime moves, its body wraps in the direction of movement (e.g. sprinting right, the slime's body will flatten somewhat).

Idle

Moving

b. Personality Traits

- The slime is timid and shy but is also desperate to survive due to constantly living in fear of being killed by passersby adventurers. This correlates to gameplay in how the slime is quite agile - able to avoid whatever hazards and obstacles comes its way.
- Since the slime has no mouth, it has no way to speak. As there will be other non-player characters present in the game, the slime will be able to respond to and communicate with these characters by wiggling its body more than normal, or to a specific rhythm.

Player Character Interactions

a. Narrative role

- The slime is one of if not the weakest creatures in a fantasy world, therefore, it will face constant challenges trying to stay alive. Alongside its fairy companion, their primary goal is to escape captors trying to kill it and ultimately survive.

b. Gameplay mechanics

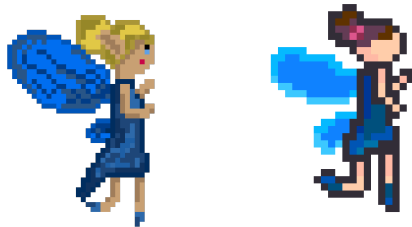

- Gameplay mechanics include basic movements such as walking and sprinting. As a slime, it moves by stretching its backside and using the momentum to slide across the ground. When it jumps, it compresses its body against the ground, then suddenly expands to push itself off. Additionally, due to the slime's sticky properties, it can scale walls quickly by sticking and jumping on it.

Non-Player Character Design:

NPC Design:

a. Protagonist positive archetype: (Those who assist the Protagonist)

- A small and bright creature called a fairy; its name is Gui. Gui's glow is dependent on its mood and at the start of the game it is low in brightness, its normal glow is hindered by the act of the adventurers killing innocent creatures. It acts as the player's guide through the game. It is a naturally helpful creature to the slime, acting against the adventures and assisting weaker monsters. Its motivation is that it has a kind heart for the world around itself. The adventures are encroaching on sacred land and it's up to the fairy to find the next worthy soul to tackle the challenge.
- Gui has a blue dress with light blue crystal-like wings with the same color glow. Smaller than the slime. Its personality reflects a kind-hearted fairy that wishes only kindness between the races. Known to be a talker she often assumes the thing that she wants is what everyone else wants. (2 different designs below)

b. Protagonist negative archetype: (Those who hinder the Protagonist)

- Enemy Design:

Captors/Hunters/Adventurers will hunt the slime, preventing it from further progressing.

- Early-stage hunters have basic armor and tools including but not limited to:
 - Leather, Heavy fabric, casual clothes, rocks
- Mid-stage enemies have tools and armor including but not limited to:
 - Iron, Chainmail, Leather, Bows, Heavy swords, Magic oak wands
- Late-game enemies have tools and armor including but not limited to:
 - Crystal armor, Magical swords, spell casting, Elder oak staffs

NPC interactions:

- a. The fairy would help the player in progressing through the game/ where to go in the game. Tutorial and helper to the slime
Positive archetypes will provide no quests but only provide movement options or direct hints to get through tricky situations
Negative archetypes will attack the player with little to no hesitation with more difficulty and range of attacks the further the slime ventures through the levels

- b. Sample dialogue between Gui and the slime after seeing the slime injured:

Gui: Hey are you hurt?!

Slime: ...

Gui: right.. Okay! Let's get you out of here, my name is Gui!

Slime: Reluctant squishy noises

Gui: You don't talk much do you? That's okay, I'll do the talking for us!

(Despite the slime's best intentions of letting it continue its path the fairy zips them both away for the time being, taking the slime further from its destination)